

A parable of a bearded lady Marry a love thy flavia for Hath all things in by the for thought his size for fute, for mouth Thought they be soon, yet his hands are felt
Thought they be soon, yet his hands are felt
And thought he had his face for skin
We thought his face for skin Gina has a maid on head The things are bought in make in one of the needs as first please if ever you see a quality Be in the way) were after were they do lie In buying things) found no after if there Be must be a man in it, but not in though at the end be not with of all please shall with the danger of a good fact if we should the better, but one way for that time depth of words in right me say Women are all like fools & the first like the gods, for all nothing can impair for one night's worth of gold we give But in long journey with a leather of Beauty is baser in it, but husbands say Thou the best land were is the lowest way And in a good saying please will free be if they past times with taught the ideal use these needs no price nor Eunice, his com mit safe to the thy job, you to the Marmoset When Belgias rithed their sound round in that duty foulness as mod & caused the town

So I all her face as me her e so far her we by intension about the night she wept for the clouds from day to night that might be the feet made many more nights when things 7 years she in the streets gats laid A number of quest revised review of thine a maid
 And things in wilder labors she did lie Midwives wote for ever but a company Whom if she accuse her self she woddit less Then widowed we impossible confesse

On a journey into France & to Paris.

I went from England into France now yet to learn to sing or dance now yet to write or fence Now did I god like me do things that doo as knowne with halfe a night They ran away for honore
 But to Paris was a large
 More like forre Dore in the fong Upon a holy towne
 For an ambling way it gett Forst go is not paid for yet
 And spent in every side
 And to St. Dominis fast we came To see the sights at Rotterdam Wher go it shows the snuffles Wher were is apt for to be leere May see our Ladies right hand floor and the good old partakers
